New Ben Davis sets goals for future

When Ben Davis pupils enter the doors of their beautiful new school, they are taking a step into the future—the future of education and modern theories of learning. The new Ben Davis High School symbolizes today's progress in learning and educational facilities.

Ben Davis pupils are also taking a step into their own future, their goals and dreams for the years ahead. Underclassmen look to future years at Ben Davis, while seniors look to their role as adults in an adult world. These pupils can look forward with the security of knowing that they are prepared for the future—prepared by the guidance, faculty, modern facilities, and social life they find at Ben Davis High School.

themselves to the future of Ben Davis

Dr. C.W. Jung of Indiana University pauses after his address at the Dedication ceremonies.

The new Ben Davis High School was dedicated on Sunday, November 7, 1965, climaxing months of planning and work on the part of many, many people.

A performance by the Marine Band, the Belles of Indiana, a coaches' basketball game, and a program by music groups highlighted a special dedication week.

On Sunday, citizens from the Ben Davis community and elsewhere gathered in the gymnasium for the formal dedication ceremonies, followed by an open house featuring students at work in classrooms. The guest speaker was Dr. C. W. Jung from Indiana University. At the dedication, the library was named in honor of Charles H. Vance, a former principal of Ben Davis, and the auditorium was named the Roscoe Conkle Auditorium in honor of Mr. Conkle who was a member of the first building commission.

An Industrial Arts student demonstrates one of the many pieces of modern equipment in the shops.

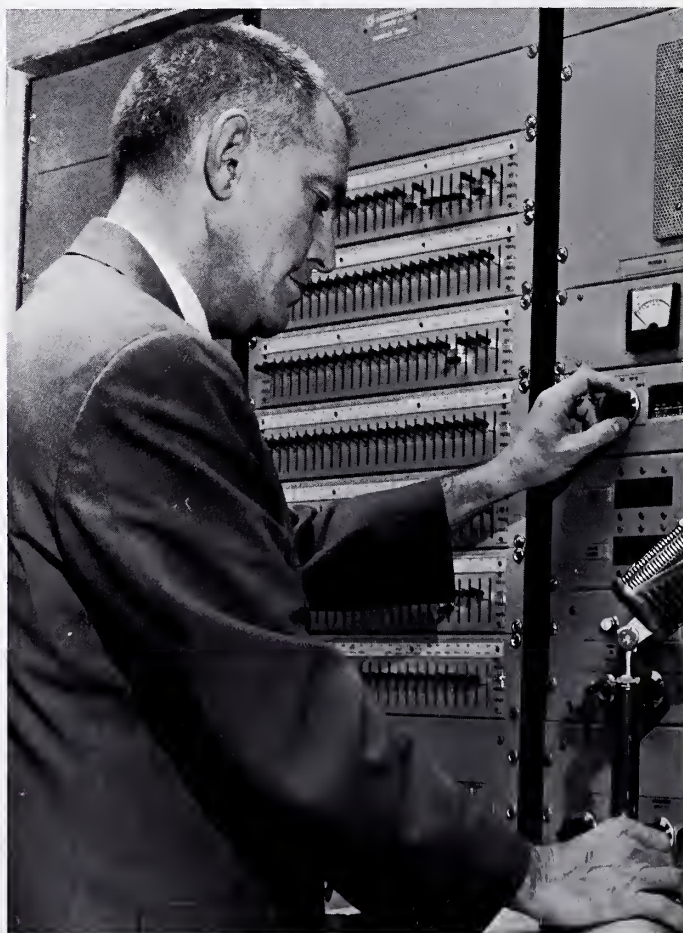

Cheerleader Julia Jackson bursts through a paper hoop to lead the basketball team onto the floor at Senior Night at the Decatur Central basketball game.

A busy, but quiet place in the school is the library. Pupils go to the library to read, do research, and relax with a magazine. The extensive library facilities are also open to the public two evenings a week.

events highlight first year in new school

The Giant 500 Bicycle Race, Junior-Senior Prom, Homecoming, Old-Fashioned Day, and Teacher Appreciation Day were only a few of the events that made the year special for Ben Davis pupils. Traditional events such as Homecoming, and the Prom were much-anticipated dates on the calendars of Ben Davisites. New events were initiated by such groups as the Student Council and Sideliners. The Giant 500 Bicycle Race took place near the end of school. All were eligible to enter the race, and there were several different events. Dances such as the Quill & Scroll sponsored Harvest Ball, the Student Council sponsored Computer Dance, and the Sunshine Dance broke the regular routine of the weekends through the year. Convocations added variety to the school days. Among those performing for the student body were the Florida College Choir, the Ben Davis choral groups, and the Ben Davis Band.

Mr. Larry Highbaugh waves the flag as John Peterson crosses the finish line to win the boys' speed race in the Giant 500 Bicycle Race.

communication and appreciation of language

Students improve their reading ability with the help of the newspapers and the READER'S DIGEST.

The change to a new building has brought a new system for the English Department. The department is headed by Miss Jean Prichard. She is assisted by thirteen teachers.

All sophomores are required to take English III and IV, which now includes developmental reading.

Junior students choose between American, Modern, and Bible Literature, Junior Grammar, Journalism I, and Speech I, to complete six semesters of English.

Although no English courses are required of seniors, three electives may be taken. Senior Composition, a one semester writing course, English Literature for the college bound, and developmental reading are offered to senior students.

The Speech division offers eight courses for those students interested in furthering their knowledge in any of the following areas: Speech I, Debate, Speech Arts, Dramatics, Theatre Production, and Radio.

Familiarity with new

Mr. Benny Townsend, Biology III and IV instructor, checks his notes before a lecture on the anatomy of the shark.

Biology III pupils work with microscopes during their study of plants. The pupils study plants the first semester and zoology the second.

Pat Fortune, Chemistry I and II pupil, cleans a bottle after an experiment with hydrogen.

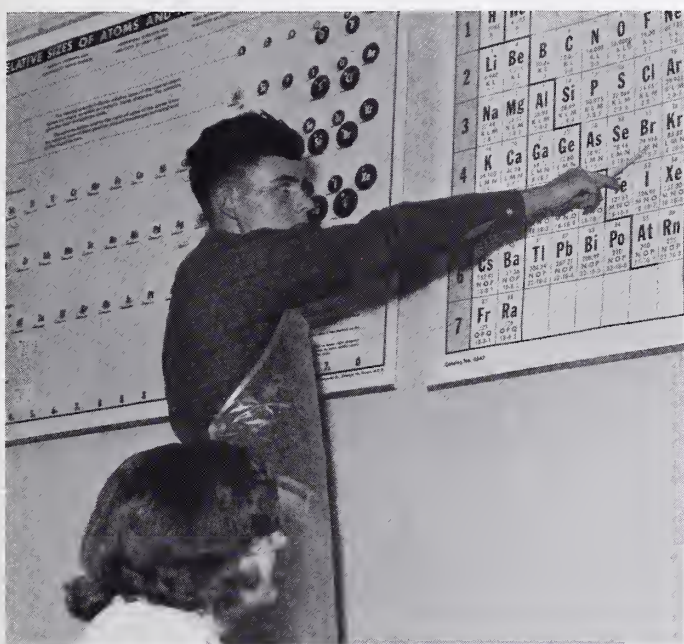

To keep pace with the modern world, many Ben Davis pupils are becoming more and more interested in the world of science.

New features of the science department include a terraced lecture room, a lab, and a preparation room. Each of the science classes is filled with up-to-date equipment.

For the second year Biology III and IV are offered. In this class students make a leaf collection and dissect a shark, cat, and pig. Other science courses include physics and chemistry, for students wishing a better background in science. Advanced chemistry is offered to college-bound seniors. This is further study in the world of chemistry. Sophomores may enroll in physical science or biology I and II.

Mr. Darryl Miller is the department chairman of this fast-growing science department.

Mr. John Shaw points out a study plan for his psychology class. Audio-visual aids are a valuable contribution to a psychology lesson.

pupils in understanding world of today

Mr. Bruce Gale, U.S. History instructor, enjoys a humorous comment by one of his pupils.

The Social Studies Department, headed by Miss Olive Carruthers, prepares students to face life in modern society. Required courses include United States history, government, and a one-semester elective course. Pupils may choose from any of the following for electives: economics, psychology, sociology, world history, and geography.

The Foreign Language Department, headed by Mrs. Ina Hyde, provides training in languages supplementary to the required English courses. Students may study French, Latin, Spanish, and a semester of Greek and Latin Derivatives. This department has enjoyed the use of a new language laboratory and increased library facilities.

Music needs met by improved facilities

The Girls' Chorus, a training choir, practice a number which they will perform at the Spring Concert.

The keys to music, harmony and understanding, are the goals of the music department. Modern facilities have made achievement of these goals easier and more pleasant.

The music department, which operates as two separate departments is headed by Mrs. Geraldine Miller, choral director and Mr. Hal Meurer, band director.

The choral department consists of two training choirs and two performing choirs. There are also four extra-curricular groups in which pupils have an opportunity to participate.

The band department has three bands in which pupils may play. They are the concert, cadet, and marching bands. There are also two extra-curricular bands, the pep band and the dance band.

For the first time the music department offers two academic courses. They are music literature and theory.

Members of the trombone section, Steve Allec, Tom Brown, Joe Garner, and Ron Ade, rehearse for a performance during band period.

Mrs. Elva Strouse, Art Department Chairman, shows an art class a still-life charcoal drawing.

Randa White does a tempera painting in art class.

New Classes increases interest in art work

Ceramics pupils work with clay to make useful pottery.

The art department has brought many honors to Ben Davis. The Maritime Poster Contest in Washington D.C., Ayres Scholastic Contest, AAA Motor Club Safety Poster, and Poppy Poster competitions are a few of the contests entered by B.D. students. Clarence Porter, senior, won fourth in the nation for his entry in the Maritime Poster Contest. Linda Meyer, senior, received second in the state and first in the district in the Hallmark Scholastic Contest sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

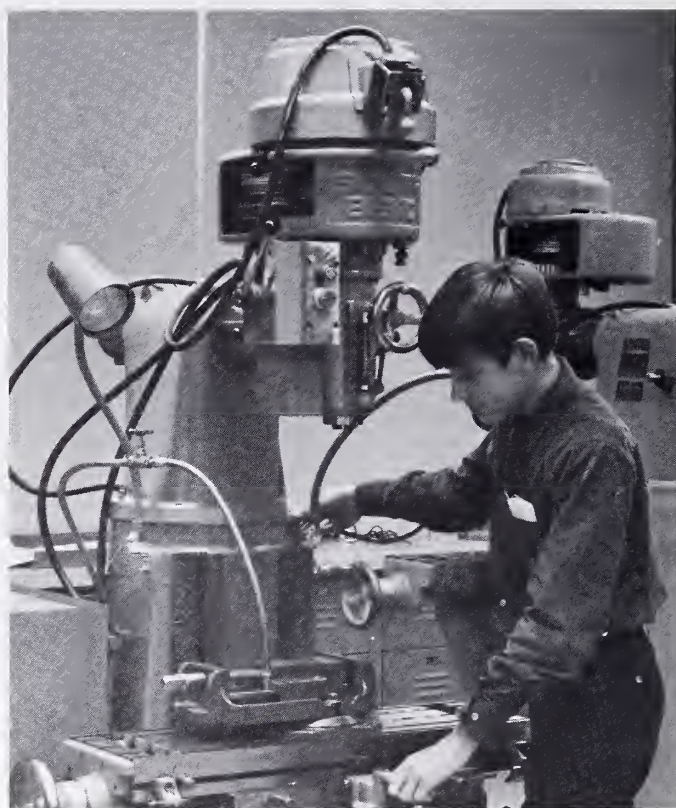

The art department has many new facilities added this year. Ceramics is an example of such a new class. Mrs. Strouse, art department head, is very proud of the students' achievements.

Preparation for vocation after graduation

In the Industrial Arts Department, headed by Mr. James Taylor, and the Home Economics Department, headed by Mrs. Mary Hartle, the pupils are taught to be better prepared for a vocation in industry or as a homemaker.

To keep up with modern trends, the entire curriculum of the Industrial Arts Department has been changed. Many new courses have been added, including exploratory building trades, synthetic materials, industrial ceramics, and general metals, with its foundry providing for the melting of metals. This year girls are included in the industrial arts program.

The Home Economics Department has many courses for both boys and girls. New equipment such as dishwashers, electric skillets, mixers, and ultra-modern sewing machines aid pupils in developing skills in cooking and sewing. Tastefully decorating a home on a low budget is the goal of a new home economics course, interior decorating. The interior decorating classes toured the Home Show at the Indiana State Fairgrounds.

Mrs. Kay Dunbar demonstrates the proper method of making a pie crust to her foods class.

Mr. Roger Bush, graphic arts instructor, explains a printing procedure to one of his pupils.

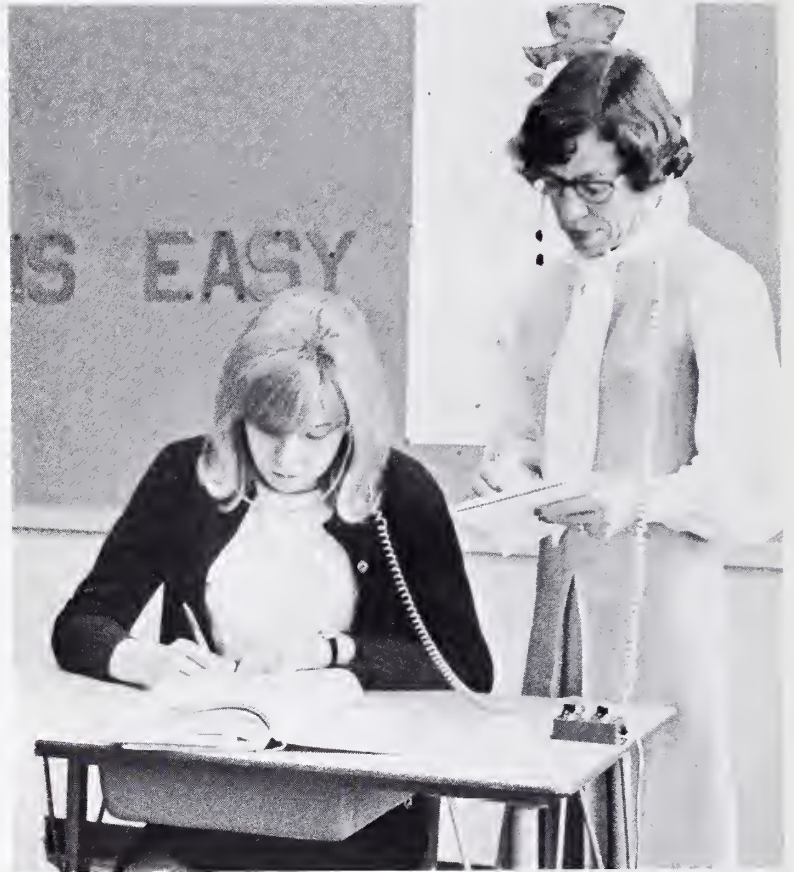

Maria Germain checks two pies, while another home economics pupil rolls out a pie crust.

Modern trends bring

Mr. Ernest Brown checks a homework assignment turned in by a pupil in his Algebra IV class.

Miss Mabel Dierdorf checks Terry Rowland as she uses the Edison Voice Writer in shorthand class.

Bill Bowman, Geometry II pupil, uses a compass to draw a circle on the board, in preparation for a construction using a circle and its tangent.

new look to math and business departments

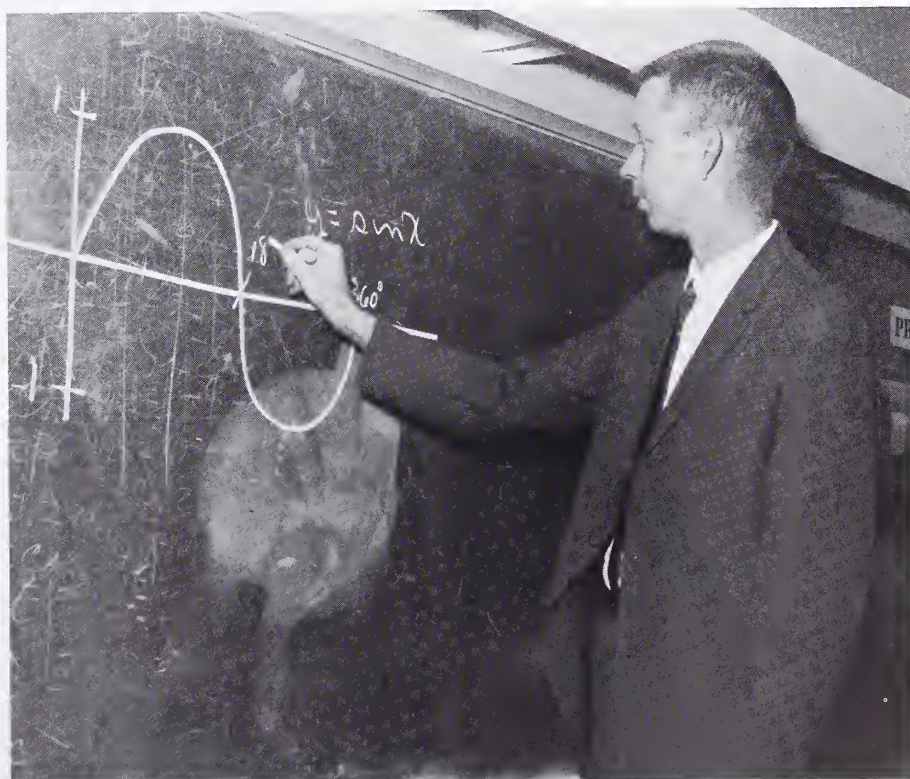

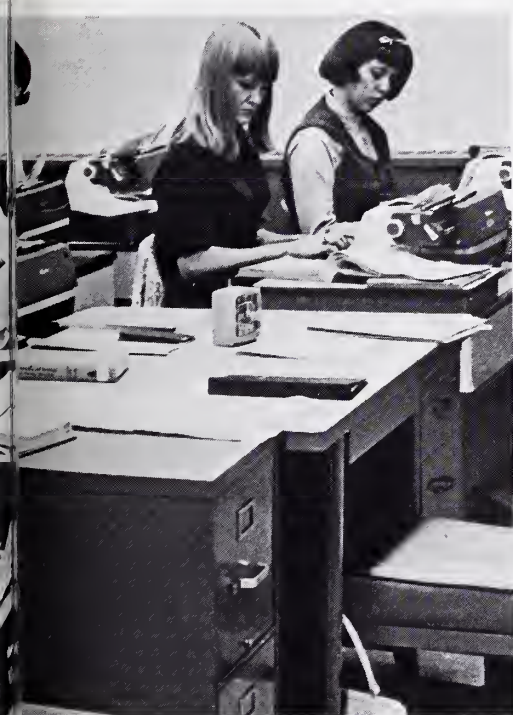

Comptometer pupils do a speed drill to increase their speed and accuracy adding four-digit numbers.

New and better equipment is the keynote of the enlarged business department, headed by Mrs. Jessie Kirk. One of the new machines, the ediphone, helps shorthand pupils increase their dictation speed. Courses offered in the business department included: business law, mathematics, business English, retailing and selling.

"Amplitude" and "synthetic substitution" are just two examples of new vocabulary words used in the modern mathematics. This new concept of old ideas has brought a change in the mathematics department at Ben Davis High School. The many courses in the new field of math help pupils prepare for their futures in the space age. Miss Nina Martin directs the mathematics department.

Typing IV pupils take a ten minute timed writing test to check their speed and accuracy.

Mr. Marvin Meranda puts an example of a sine curve on the board for his trigonometry class.

Pupils read magazines as they relax in the library during their free time.

Miss Elizabeth Leffler, librarian, glances over a new book before she places it on the shelf.

Pupils make use of modern library

Marilyn Lee uses the card catalog to find books available for use for her class project.

The new Charles H. Vance Library, located in the Student Center of Ben Davis High School, provides a storehouse of knowledge for the student body and the community. The library includes many modern facilities. A conference room, a listening and previewing room, and a lounge area aid pupils in their learning processes. A teacher's library helps teachers in their daily preparation and special research. The new library is spacious enough to accommodate approximately 200 pupils at one time. For the first time, the public has access to the 8,000 volumes of the library for two evenings per week.

Student librarians are a great help to the library.

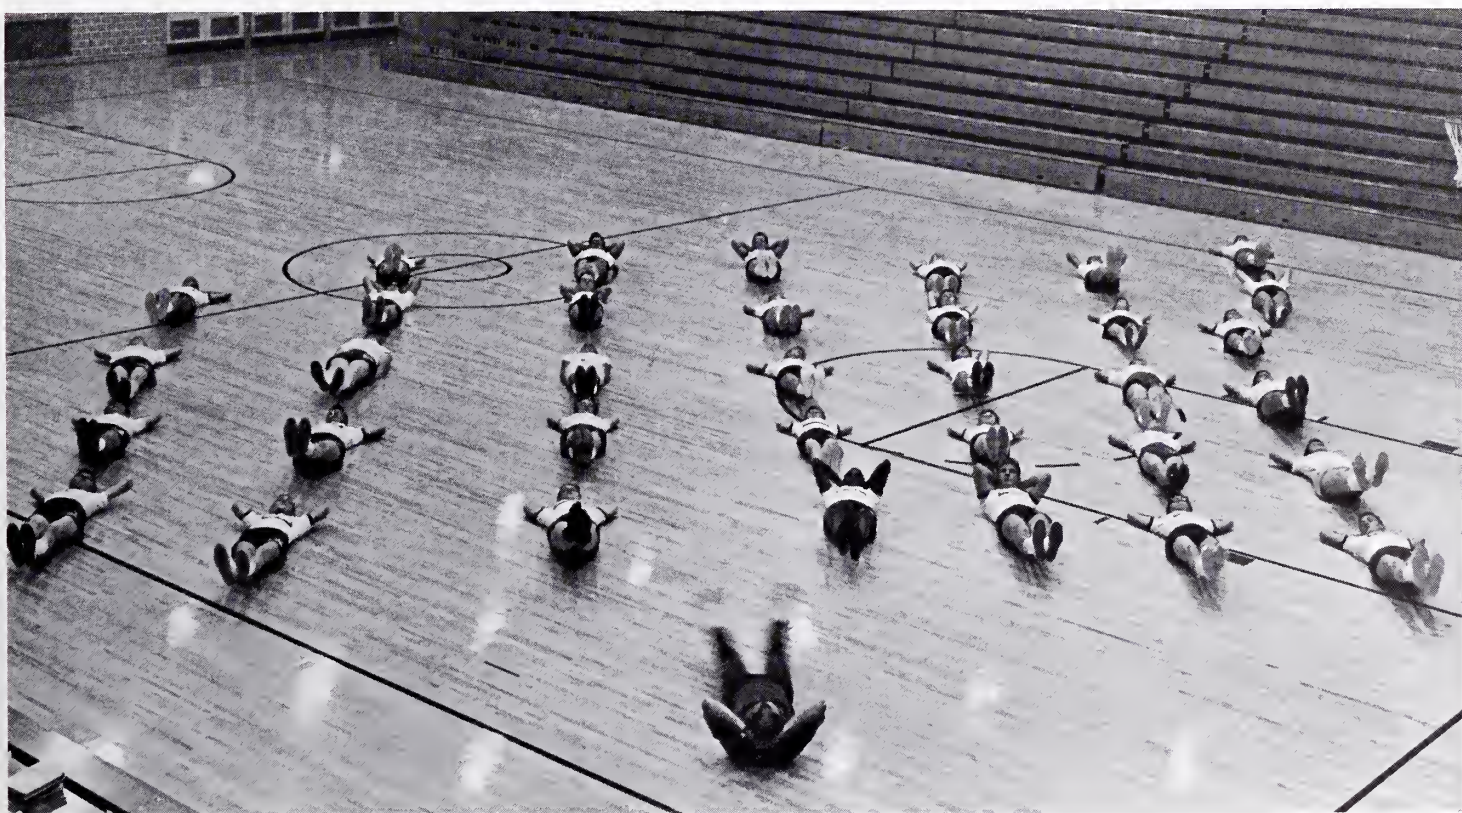

The new Ben Davis High School offers almost unlimited possibilities in physical education. Pupils have the use of a fine gymnasium and other modern facilities for their classes. The program has been expanded to meet the ever increasing demand for a sound body to go with a sound mind. A restricted physical education class, for those unable to participate in regular classes, was added to the curriculum.

The Driver Education department at Ben Davis plays an important role in teaching students to be responsible and cautious drivers. In addition to classroom work, pupils get actual experience in a car with a driving instructor. They also have the use of driving simulators which provide conditions similar to those of driving a real car.

Mr. Woodrow Baker operates the film projector as driver education pupils prepare to test their driving skills.

Physical fitness, Safe driving stressed

A physical education class does leg-lifts calisthenics program.

Mr. Trent Gipson, dean of boys, pauses a moment from his busy day.

Mr. William Girton unlocks a fan room door for inspection.

Mrs. Rosalie Harcourt makes a phone call to check on an absent pupil.

Smiling, Mr. Howard Williams greets the pupils at the start of a new school day.

Mr. Robert Seeman checks the SAT scores for the seniors.

School's efficiency lies in administration

Mr. David L. Adams, principal, signs a college application for one of the Ben Davis pupils.

An integral part of Ben Davis High School is the administration. The administration plays a most vital role in the day by day functioning of the school.

Mr. David L. Adams, in his third year as principal, directs the work of the vice-principals and deans. Mr. Howard Williams has the task of coordinating the activities of the many students and clubs. Mr. Robert Seeman directs guidance and record work. Mr. William Gorton is the faculty director of the building and grounds. The deans, Mr. Trent Gipson, Dean of Boys, and Mrs. Rosalie Harcourt, Dean of Girls, control and direct attendance problems and give help and advice to the students.

As the Metropolitan School District of Wayne Township grows to meet the needs of modern education, the responsibilities of administration become more complex. The School Board deals with these new problems and responsibilities, as well as those they have handled since the board was created, four years ago.

Mr. Harmon Baldwin, Superintendent of Schools, heads the administration of Wayne Township schools. He is assisted by Frank Cline, assistant superintendent, and Madison Shadley, superintendent of buildings and grounds.

School Board members, elected by Wayne Township voters, included: Mr. Dewey Hoss, president; Mrs. Evelyn Abbott, vice-president; Mr. Robert Rader, secretary; Mr. Ben Syphers, treasurer; Mr. James Baize, board member.

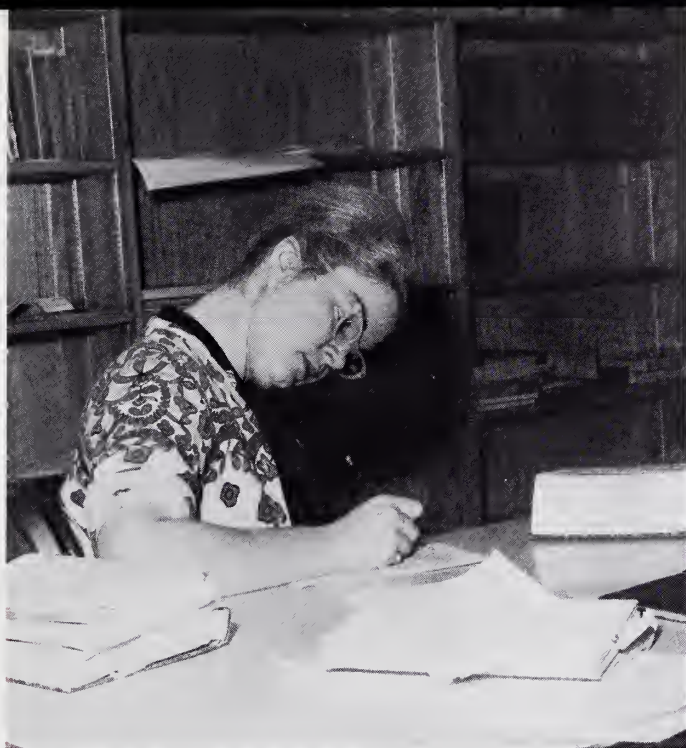

Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Baldwin pause as they leave the dedication ceremony of the new high school. Mr. Baldwin is Superintendent of Schools.

Better education goal of School Board

School board: Mr. Ben Syphers, Mr. Robert Rader, Mrs. Evelyn Abbott, Mr. Dewey Hoss, and Mr. James Baize.

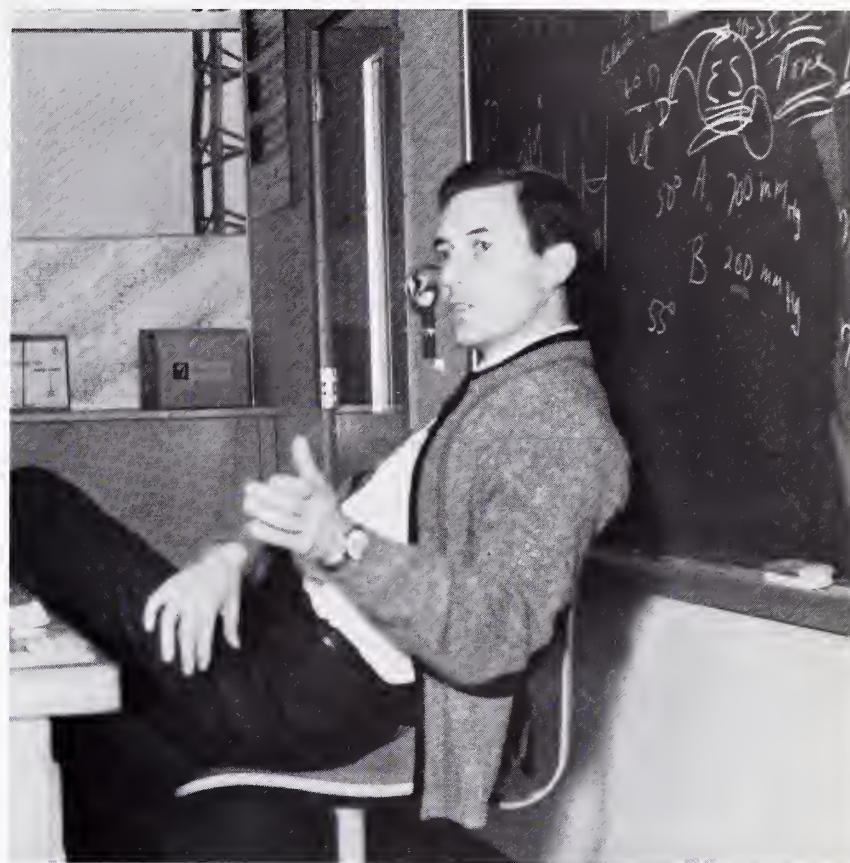

Mrs. Ina Hyde checks papers.

Faculty inspires pupils

Mrs. Margaret Shuler, one of the guidance counselors, helps a pupil to plan her next semester's program. Phyllis Johnson, an assistant, checks files.

Mr. Jack Jester gestures to emphasize an important point in his lecture to his chemistry class.

The faculty and administration of Ben Davis High School offer their time for teaching and guiding their pupils. New facilities have greatly aided both teachers and administrators in performing their varied educational duties.

New audio-visual equipment has provided a means for making classroom work more interesting and enjoyable for both teachers and pupils. More library facilities and a new teacher's library have also been of help to the faculty.

Many teachers were aided throughout the year by student teachers from various colleges and universities.

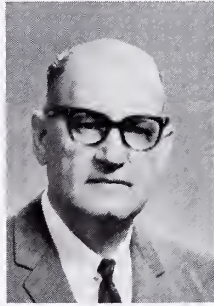

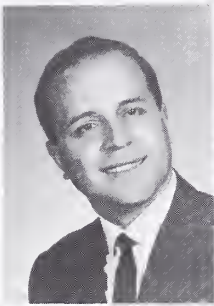

The ninety-six teachers and five administrators have also enjoyed the new teacher's cafeteria and lounges.

Certainly the faculty and administration have helped Ben Davis to make "A Step into the Future".

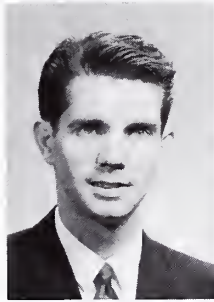

Mr. Marvin Meranda and Mr. Trent Gipson enjoy a bit of humor while working at the scorer's bench at a basketball game.

Parents, faculty, and National Honor Society members dined together at the annual spring banquet.

One of the most respected groups at Ben Davis High School is the National Honor Society. In March, the names of juniors and seniors who rank high in their classes are submitted to the faculty for consideration as members of the National Honor Society.

A formal initiation of new members is held each spring. A banquet for members and their parents is also an annual event. Near the end of the school year, NHS members have a picnic at Danville Park. At the beginning of the second semester, NHS members sponsor the Honor Hop, an annual dance honoring those pupils who achieved a place on the semester honor roll.

The NHS is sponsored by Miss Olive Carruthers, Mrs. Helen Poince, and Mr. Robert Seeman. The Honor Society bought an announcement board for the school. A plaque listing the names of members of NHS was also purchased. The 1965-66 officers were: Steve Richwine, president; Anita Nachoff, vice-president; Jeanette Hardin, secretary; Ken Inman, treasurer.

Student Council initiates new activities

Student Council members and teachers had a breakfast of donuts, milk and coffee before the start of school on Teacher Appreciation Day.

The Student Council provides a means for exchanging ideas between the administration, faculty, and student body. Representatives act on important issues throughout the school year. For example, this year's Council revised the honor roll so that it is now based on a point system. The Student Council sponsored the annual Homecoming activities.

A new project, Howdy Week, was aimed at creating friendlier relations at the school. Included in Howdy Week were tag days, teacher appreciation day, and a computer dance. On teacher appreciation day, selected pupils substituted for teachers in teaching classes and assuming other responsibilities. Pupils attending the computer dance, filled out questionnaires, and were matched for the dance with other pupils by a computer.

The Council formed a Foreign Student Exchange Committee in the spring. The purpose of this committee was to raise funds for obtaining at least one foreign exchange student for the school year 1966-67.

Mask & Gavel, NFL, Thespians extend

At a speech contest at Ben Davis, Nancy Hart delivers her oratorical declamation, which took her all the way to fourth place in the state speech contest.

Throughout the year the Mask & Gavel presented several one-act plays. One of these was the comic "Ladies of the Mop".

Mask & Gavel members work with make-up for their presentation of "The Music Man".

Mask and Gavel is a club consisting of pupils interested in speech and dramatics. The name develops around the purpose of the group, the "Mask" standing for the actors and the Gavel representing section.

The Ben Davis chapter of the club presented three plays this year which included the production of "The Bad Seed", a drama; "The Music Man", a musical; "Jenny Kissed Me", a comedy.

The National Thespian Society is the honorary drama section of the Mask and Gavel. To become a Thespian, a person must earn ten points which are awarded for participation in plays, stage crews, or other dramatic activities.

The National Forensics League is the honorary speech section of Mask and Gavel. To become a member of NFL, a pupil must accumulate at least twenty-five points, which may be attained by public speaking. Points are rewarded for speaking before an audience of at least twenty-five persons, for a minimum of five minutes.

The sponsors of the club are Dr. Donald Hansell, Mr. Bob Hughes, and Mrs. Larry Hybaugh.

"The Bad Seed", "Jenny Kissed Me"

This year the Ben Davis Mask & Gavel presented two major dramatic productions in Vance Auditorium. These student productions gave members a chance to display their acting talents as well as to work backstage with sets, properties, makeup, and costumes. Many hours of rehearsal were spent in making the plays successful.

Maxwell Anderson's "The Bad Seed" was presented in the fall. Debbi Sheets had the lead role of Rhoda Penmark, a psychopathic child who murdered several persons in the drama.

In the spring, Jean Kerr's comedy, "Jenny Kissed Me", was produced. The play is the story of a country girl who comes to live in a Catholic rectory where her aunt is the housekeeper for Father Moynihan, played by Mike Wright. Susan Bauer had the title role of Jenny. The priest turns into quite a matchmaker and tries to get Jenny married. All turns out well when she decides to marry a teacher staying at the rectory. Dave Sinclair portrayed Michael Saunders, the teacher.

Owen Parkside played by Carl Boockholdt, explains to Jenny the correct method for applying makeup in the play, "Jenny Kissed Me".

Miss Sterns, the spinster neighbor played by Leslie Oliver tells Jenny that there is a place in the world for those who are not married.

Mrs. Deazy, the housekeeper played by Kathy Puycar, pleads with Father Moynihan to let her niece Jenny come to stay at the rectory.

The members of the Red Cross at Ben Davis participated on committees for civic projects, as well as many other service activities. Some members volunteered their free time to help in local hospitals. Others prepared baskets for unfortunate families and made clothes for dolls to be given to children. Still others sent packages to the boys in Viet Nam. All projects were directed by Mrs. Kay Dunbar and Mrs. Mary Hartle, sponsors. At the end of the year several girls were honored for giving many hours of service to the organization.

For the third consecutive year, the Ben Davis vegetable-judging team brought top national honors to the school. The members of the team also scored high individually. Ben Davis teams members won trips to the National Junior Horticultural Association convention in Cincinnati, Ohio, in December by winning in state contests.

This year the History Club enjoyed a revival of interest. The club grew from last year's thirty members to over 175 members, this year. The club was privileged to have many well versed speakers. Among them were: the head of the Indiana Junior Historical Society; YaYa Lopez, foreign exchange student from Ecuador; and Jeanette Hardin, who spent the past summer in Europe. The History Club had two sponsors, Mrs. Lavonne Zimmerman and Mr. William Price.

The Bowling Club provided pupils with an opportunity to exercise and socialize after school. Each week from September to April, members of the club met on either Tuesday or Wednesday evenings at the Lynhurst Bowl. Members of the club competed on individual and team bases. At the end of the year they were rewarded at a banquet with trophies for team and individual efforts.

Quill and Scroll recognizes pupils who have excelled in the field of journalism. To be eligible, one must have worked at least two semesters on either Keyhole, Spotlight or News Bureau and maintained at least a B average.

Hosting a city wide Press Day, Sponsoring the Harvest Ball, awarding Gold and Silver Keys were some of the club's activities. In the spring, Quill and Scroll holds an annual Publications Banquet. Mr. James Ray is the organizations sponsor.

Students who are above average in mathematics are invited to join Mu Alpha Theta, National Math honorary society. An annual activity is to decorate the Christmas Tree in the cafeteria. Steve Richwine is President. Miss Nina Martin is the sponsor.

Careers in education, objective of FTA

Joan Hall, an FTA member, observes as Mr. Minnick takes roll on Teacher Appreciation Day.

Acquainting pupils with the profession of teaching is the goal of the Future Teachers of America. Throughout the year they have regular meetings where speakers inform the members about various fields of the teaching profession.

This year the members sponsored Toy's Concerto, a variety show presented to raise funds for mental health research. Some members also got a chance to be teachers for one day during Teachers Appreciation Day.

For the first time two $50 scholarships were offered to seniors interested in becoming teachers.

The club's activities are sponsored by Mrs. Rosalie Harcourt. The club's officers that work with her are: president, Tim Mains; vice-president, Joyce Nickell, secretary, Sherry Mueller; treasurer, Pat Kelly.

Phi Chi Sigma, the science club at Ben Davis High School, provides opportunities for pupils interested in the sciences to further their knowledge in these or related fields. Only those pupils enrolled in physics, chemistry, or advanced biology are eligible for membership. Programs planned for the year included lectures, films, trips, and social activities. This organization, one of the largest at Ben Davis, is sponsored by Mr. Daryl Miller and Mr. Jack Jester.

Pupils interested in learning new concepts of math and having fun at the same time, join Trialge, the math club. Pupils enrolled in Algebra I or higher math courses may become members. At club meetings members work math puzzles. Serving as sponsor of the Trialge is Miss Nina Martin, head of the math department.

The Future Business Leaders of America Club aims at encouraging outstanding work in business education subjects. Speeches by outstanding members of the business world and films on economics spark the organization's monthly meetings. Sponsoring the FBLA are Mrs. Sheila Feltman and Mrs. Jessie Kirk. Sherry Bristow, president heads the club's activities. During its second year at BDHS, the club had ninety-five members.

The goal of the Ben Davis Sunshine Society is to help improve the community and the school. At Christmas, food baskets are given to needy families. The Ben Davis chapter joins other chapters in supporting the Riley Hospital fund with contributions. The Sunshine Society also gives a nursing scholarship to a future nursing student in the organization. The group also sponsors an annual dance and a Mother's Tea. At this year's dance, Sharon Pierpont was crowned queen. The club's activities are guided by the sponsorship of Mrs. Sandra Speicher, Mrs. Jane Atwood, and Mrs. Judith Harvey.

Frank Wilkinson gathers his slaves about him in preparation for the Roman Banquet.

The three language clubs were very active at Ben Davis this year. All three clubs sponsored a two-day car wash to make money to send Leslie Oliver to France this summer.

The Spanish Club built a float for Homecoming and finished the year with a banquet. The club's sponsors were Mrs. Mary Anne Caplinger and Mr. James Garcia.

Having a pitch-in supper with a WIFE disc-jockey, and a picnic at Danville Park were some of the year's activities for the French Club. With the help of Mrs. Ina Hyde, sponsor, a new constitution was adopted.

Senatus Populesque Romanus, or the Latin Club not only contributed food to needy families at Thanksgiving, but also sent a group of club members to the state convention at Indiana University. Latin Club members bought slaves at their annual slave sale to serve them at the Roman Banquet. Former Latin teachers were guests at the banquet. Mr. Arvin Brokaw and Mr. John Schwegman were club sponsors.

Clubs add variety to school life

The Chess Club enjoyed renewed participation this year as 25 pupils joined together to improve their chess techniques. The members met once a week after school to participate in meets. Some of this year's meets included those among members, meets with other schools, and a student-faculty meet which the students won by a landslide.

The Chess Club, sponsored by Mr. Leonard Lowe, taught beginners how to play chess. The club's officers were: Chris Robbins, president, David Fleming, vice-president, Terry Lazaro, secretary, and William Keedy, treasurer.

Studying the Morse code, voice communications, and radio and television repairing were some of the activities of the newly formed Radio-Electronics Club.

Sponsoring the new club is Mr. James Pell. The club's officers were: Jim Petro, president, Mark Magnabosco, vice-president, Terry Lazaro, secretary, and Colin Smith, treasurer.

Sideliners, Booster Club promote spirit

Inspiring the team and students with spirit is only one of the Sideliners Club's many duties. As a part of this program, the Sideliners sponsored one of the most exciting basketball games of the year. While the BDHS faculty defeated the WIFE GOOD GUYS 57 to 54, their pranks and escapades amused the crowd. During the year, the Sideliners also sold badges for various athletic events. Sponsored by Mr. William McClain and Mr. Trent Gipson, the Sideliners keep enthusiasm generated within the student body.

Helping the team to victory is the job of the Booster Club. As the girls yell with the cheerleaders and proudly sing the school song, they inspire the student body with enthusiasm for their team. This year the Booster Club added purple felt gloves to the traditional white blouses and dark skirts. One of the projects of the Booster Club this year was sponsoring the second annual Winter Homecoming. The event included the crowning of Sportsmanship King and Queen, Danny Dodd and Pam Campbell.

Participants in the speed race line up for the start. This race was one of several events in the Sidelineer Bicycle Race.

WBDG-FM offers variety of programs

WBDG, 90.9 on the FM dial, is definitely a part of Ben Davis High School. The radio station's 10-watt transmission output serves a 10-mile radius.

Radio II and III pupils are directly involved with various activities related to the operation of radio station WBDG-FM. Various duties of these pupils include the following: announcing, writing, interviewing, sportscasting, and engineering.

A variety of programs are broadcast through the station including news, sports, and music. "Hints for the Homemaker" is a program consisting of tasty recipes, clothing tips, child care, and safety precautions in the home. A taped program, "Purdue School of the Air" includes programs especially for elementary and junior high pupils. "Imperial Production" describes the lives of great men of the United States.

Mr. Robert Berry, radio sponsor, demonstrates the use of radio equipment to Mr. Harmon Baldwin, Superintendent of Schools.

An Art Club member works on an oil painting.

To encourage those pupils interested in art in developing their talents is the goal of the Art Club, one of the newer clubs at Ben Davis. The Art Club engages in many service projects such as contributing shading lamps, view masters, books, and other useful supplies to the art department. They donated their time to the school for the painting of lines and numbers on the teacher and student parking lots. The club members also enjoyed a sketching trip to Brown County State Park.

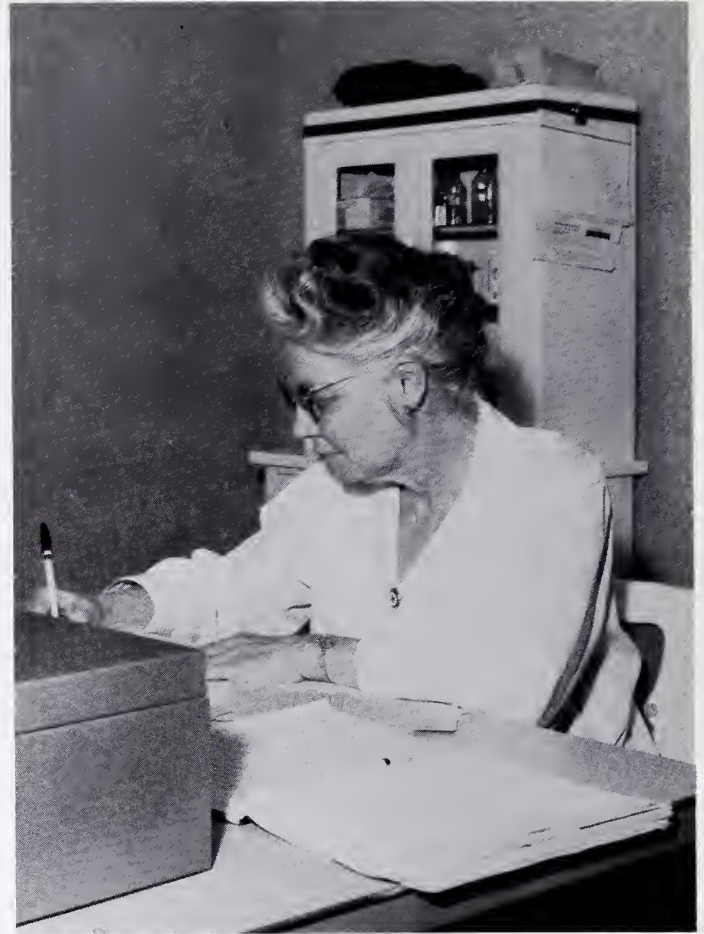

The club's projects were directed by their sponsor, Mrs. Elva Strouse. Club officers who helped plan the activities included: Clarence Porter, president; Barbara Metal, vice-president; Barbara Baugh, secretary; Joe Keeler, treasurer.

Office girls, clinic and cafeteria workers, student librarians, and many others provide valuable services to the school.

Helping the school to operate more smoothly, the office girls assist counselors and deans in their duties. The clinic girls assist the nurse, Mrs. Sommers, in her daily task of caring for the pupils. With an enlarged cafeteria, extra student help is needed to provide sufficient service during lunchtime. Student librarians give assistance to fellow classmates working in the library. Student assistants receive a service credit for their work.

During its first year of existence at Ben Davis, the Americanism Club enjoyed the eager participation of 43 pupils. The club which is composed of seniors and juniors will be opened to sophomores next year.

The purpose of this newly formed organization is to study various forms of government and our responsibilities as citizens. Films, guest speakers, and speeches written by such men as former President Truman were useful in achieving this goal.

The club has been guided by the sponsorship of Mrs. Judith Harvey and Mr. Robert Houston.

The goal of the Youth for Christ Club at Ben Davis is to bring pupils in contact with the religious aspects of life. The club tries to reach those who do not go to church through the assistance of the club's dedicated members.

The club, sponsored by Mr. Charles Carpenter, has monthly meetings. At these meetings club members hear speeches, have contests and see films.

This year the Youth for Christ president is Wanda Martin.

Members of the Keyhole staff work on copy, headlines, and captions during the fourth period.

Several new events highlighted the work of the Keyhole staff during their first year in the new high school. The yearbook was enlarged to university size, and four color pictures were added. To promote the sale of yearbooks, a contest was conducted among the homerooms, prizes were offered in a drawing, and a Yearbook Queen was chosen by those pupils who ordered yearbooks in the early campaign. Pam Campbell was named Yearbook Queen at an all-school convocation.

Because of the added space of the new facilities, the staff was enlarged to include fourteen members. The editorial and business staffs worked separately this year. The staff was aided in their effort by their advisor, Mr. Robert Houston.

Award winning Marching Giant' Band

This year the Ben Davis Band proved that it can be both a good marching band and a good concert band, by placing fourth at the State Fair this summer and by receiving a first division class "A" concert band rating at the Indiana School of Music Association Contest this spring. During a week's tour of Canada this summer, the band played two concerts, marched in two parades, and was the featured band at the Waterloo, Ontario, Band Festival.

After school started, the band marched in parades and played several concerts, including the annual Winter and Spring Concerts. They also played at several dedications.

Other band activities included sponsoring the Marine Band Concert, ordering new uniforms for next year, serving as the orchestra for "Music Man", and finishing the year with an annual band banquet.

The band marches onto the track for a pre-game performance at Homecoming.

Purple-Aires perform at Christmas convo

The Purple-Aires practice to the accompaniment of their pianist.

Forty music-minded pupils make up the Ben Davis Purple-Aires. These active pupils take part in school and community activities. Membership in this group is attained by auditioning in the spring of each year.

The Purple-Aires have new robes this year. They are of a purple iridescent material. To help pay for the robes, the choir made and sold a Christmas recording.

For each performance, a choir member earns points. When a pupil has a total of 800 points, he is awarded a letter. Bars and stars are awarded for more points.

The officers of Purple-Aires are: Joyce Nickell, president; Sharon Morford, secretary; Marsha Archer, treasurer; Chris Dunn, sargeant at arms. They are directed by Mrs. Geraldine Miller.

PURPLE-AIRES: ROW 1: Joe Garner, Joyce Nickell, Chris Dunn, Marsha Archer, Betty Frizzell, Monte Warner, Sharon Morford, Deanna La Fara, Tim Mains, Leslie Oliver, Ron Jarrett, Ellen Magee, Denny Charmichael. ROW 2: Dave Wilson, Bonnie Kirk, Pam Northern, Charles Hodges, Patty Patten, Joe Skinner, Diane Bramhlett, Glen Lovall, Sharon Madley, Jeanette Hardin, Dale Wilson, Bruce Parker. ROW 3: Lisa LaMar, Jerry Walden, Marla Fields, Carol Locke, Shawn Harder, Patricia Wince, Tom Brown, Susie Robertston, Dixie Smith, Joyce Sandborn, Ron Meador, Beverly Bier, Tom Garrison, Linda Smallwood.

Assisting the Purple-Aires in presenting a program which offers variety is the job of the Starlights and Highlights. Although their major function is singing with the Purple-Aires, they also give individual performances.

The Starlights, a group of nine girls, meet once a week for rehearsal. The girls won first place at the State Ensemble Contest this year.

The Highlights are a group of eight boys. Two members, Joe Garner and Tim Mains, won first place at the State Solo Contest. Mrs. Geraldine Miller, head of the choral department, directs the groups.

HIGHLIGHTS: Tim Mains, Monte Warner, Denny Carmichael, Joe Garner, Tom Brown, Dale Wilson, Ron Jarrett, Glenn Lovall, Pianist, Sharon Morford.

Lida Rose, oh, Lida Rose . . . sing Tim Mains, Monte Warner, Tom Brown, and Joe Garner as the quartet.

"Seventy-six trombones led the big parade . . .," and over 100 people filled the stage in "Music Man." The cast worked hard to make this musical, the first in the new auditorium, a success.

Playing the part of Professor Harold Hill, the music man, was Gary Tomlin, sophomore. Marian Paroo, the stuck-up town librarian, was played by Leslie Oliver, junior. Marian, who sets out to expose Harold Hill's deceiving methods, finally falls in love with him.

Dr. Donald Hansell served as director for "Music Man." In charge of music was Mr. Fred Neimeyer; Mr. Bob Hughes was technical director, and Ellen Ristow was student director.

Harold Hill convinces Mrs. Paroo, Jeanette Hardin, that her son should have a cornet.

Charlie Cowell, played by David Dunne, exposes Professor Hill on his trip through town.

Choral Belles, Madrigals provide change;

The Choral Belles, an all girls ensemble, provide music for their school and community. Now in their second year of existence at Ben Davis, the Choral Belles have increased their number of members from fifteen to twenty.

In purple dresses with white jackets, the girls provide appropriate dramatic movements to highlight the songs they sing. The girls average thirty-six performances per year.

They meet once a day to practice music and their dramatic interpretation of it. The Choral Belles have gained a place of recognition in school and community.

The officers of Choral Belles are: President, Carolyn Curbeaux; Vice-president, Gina Long.

The Madrigals sing the most difficult type of music, fifteenth and sixteenth century madrigal compositions. This group participated in a madrigal festival at Ball State this spring. There are sixteen members in this group.

The Deep Purples, directed by Mrs. Geraldine Miller, is the "swing" choir of the choral department. Throughout the year they learn new music and practice known music in order to provide a wide variety of songs and present programs enjoyable to all ages.

The girls attired in purple satin dresses and the boys in white dinner jackets travel all around the city entertaining different organizations.

The Deep Purples, whose members are chosen by audition, is for pupils wishing to participate in extra-curricular choral activities. The Deep Purples officers include: Betty Frizzell, president; Carol Locke, secretary; Glenna Goddard, treasurer.

Bonnie Kirk, Ellen Magee, Chris Dunn, Deanna LaFara, Joe Garner and Elaine Radcliff perform on stage for visitors at the school dedication.

YaYa finds BD life different, enjoyable

Ben Davis High School's second foreign exchange student is Maria Eulalia Lopez Yepez, better known as "YaYa". She is from Guayaquil, Ecuador, South America.

While living with Pat Wince, a senior, YaYa has found many things different in America. In Ecuador YaYa went to an all-girl school, but she likes our co-ed classes better.

Basketball is YaYa's favorite American sport. She also likes football, but in Ecuador it is called soccer.

She particularly finds enjoyment in the Ben Davis band since her Ecuadorian school did not have a band for entertainment.

YaYa and Pat Wince make a raid on the refrigerator for a late evening snack.

Mr. Roger Bush took charge of intramural activities this year holding games on Tuesdays and Wednesdays. The best season record was obtained by Russ Baker's team with a 7-0 tally. For their efforts the team received individual gold medals.

In the round robin tourney that followed, it was Jerry Coddington's team that captured the title.

Jerry Kaufman, high scorer from Coddington's team, received a trophy for his achievement during the spring sports convocation.

Many athletes, not participating in winter sports, take advantage of the intramural program. It provides a source of entertainment and aids in keeping the athletes in shape.

1966 Prom at Indiana Roof Ballroom.

Under sparkling stars at the Indiana Roof, Ben Davis juniors and seniors and their dates enjoyed the enchantment of the 1966 Junior-Senior Prom. Hours spent fixing hair, washing cars, polishing nails, and fastening cummerbunds came to a climax in the dreamy atmosphere.

While boys stood in line for refreshments, girls waited patiently in their colored formals. While some lined up to have their picture taken for later memories, others congregated in the lobby.

At 10:30 p.m. a stillness swept over the guests at the Prom. Everyone watched as the candidates for Prom Royalty strolled across the ballroom floor. The time was nearing for the coronation, as the candidates waited anxiously. The Master and Mistress of Ceremonies, Phil Hadley and Cathy Anderson, announced the Prince and Princess, Mark Williams and Ellen Ristow. Then the King and Queen, Tom Smith and Pam Campbell, were announced. When the applause ended, the crownbearers, followed by the King and Queen, Prince and Princess, led the coronation dance. After the court and candidates were dancing, everyone joined them in the dance.

Graduation left a large gap in this year's grid-iron squad allowing open positions to inexperienced underclassmen. Five senior lettermen were all that remained of last year's successful football team.

The giants made a good showing against Decatur Central while also "skunking" Lawrence Central 14-0. Coach McClain commended players for their determination and ability. Among these were: Danny Britt and Jerry Sipe defensively and Ben Davis' high scorer Noble York, offensively.

Coach McClain was disappointed in this year's 2-8 season record, but added that next season should be much more promising with 23 experienced lettermen returning.

Sporting an improved 5-4 season record, this year's reserve football squad coached by Mr. Bob Britt and Mr. Chuck Thompson showed promise for future varsity performance. Coach Britt commended Bob Williams for his fine defensive work against tough opposition.

The team scored decisive victories over Warren Central 26-6 and Decatur Central 25-6. They also scored a 13-6 win over city foe Washington.

The team received valuable experience in the fundamentals of football. Coach Thompson instructed the boys in line techniques while Coach Britt handled the backfield and led the offensive charge. All in all, the team had a successful season.

Excitement began to mount as pupils attended a pep rally featuring sky diving and a miniature float parade.

A parade of floats, the queen and court candidates, and the band preceded the game with the Washington Continentals.

Another pre-game ceremony included the crowning of Queen Pam Mason and her court. Serving as attendants were: Pam Campbell, senior, Terry Lisby, junior, and Kathy German, sophomore.

During halftime float competition winners were announced. Finishing first, second, and third were the Science Club, Art Club, and Booster Club, respectively.

Underclassmen acquire varsity experience

The year 1965 marked the end of Mr. Wendell Hine's notable career as a coach when he resigned due to illness. The loss of Coach Hine will leave its mark in the memories of BDHS "harriers" past and present.

Coach Hine's able successor, Mr. Marvin Meranda, did an admirable job of taking over his coaching responsibilities. This year's junior-dominated team lacked varsity experience, with all the junior team members coming up from last year's reserve squad.

Junior team captain Dennis Gilley recorded this year's best times and continually placed highest in this season's schedule of meets.

Senior Tom Lothridge was the only returning letterman to complete the season. Tom was assisted, during the season, by a crop of promising sophomores. Among these were: Jeff Rhodes, Mike Phelps, and Larry Hendren.

Coach Evan Fine also had some talented juniors who helped to fill in the gap left by last year's graduating seniors.

Coach Bob Britt led this year's reserve five to a closely contested 9-10-1 season record. With four sophomore prospects being moved to the varsity, Coach Britt still was able to produce a very successful season.

Several members of the squad demonstrated promise for next year's varsity. Among these were: Noble York, Dave Cooper, and Danny Britt. Larry Hendren and Robert Williams started the season as reserve players, but were later drafted to the varsity.

Not every member of this year's reserve team will advance to the varsity, but those that do have a good background on roundball success.

Hours of practice helped to produce a winning season for this year's varsity wrestling squad.

Coach Joe Preda's "matmen" ended the year with a 6-5 season mark. One of the few sports that wasn't dominated by sophomores, wrestling had some good performances from able upper-classmen. Chuck Lineback and Dave Wildman, only returning senior lettermen, made a good showing in their respective weight classes. Marvin Turpin and Don Noble, seniors, also made a good showing in their first year of varsity performance.

The highlight of the year came when junior Eugene Kappel placed third in the state finals. The reserve team showed promise for next year's varsity.

Eugene Kappel was Ben Davis' only wrestler to enter the state finals.

A practice warm-up precedes every varsity and reserve wrestling match.

A new sport was introduced to Ben Davis this year. Sports fans were able to see the first gymnastics team.

The team finished the season with 22 boys. Mr. Kenneth Cox, coach of the team, said he was pleased with the turn-out of boys and complimented them on their determination and skill in gymnastics. Coach Cox said, "other teams were surprised at the skill of our team because we were performing stunts in two months that usually takes a year to master."

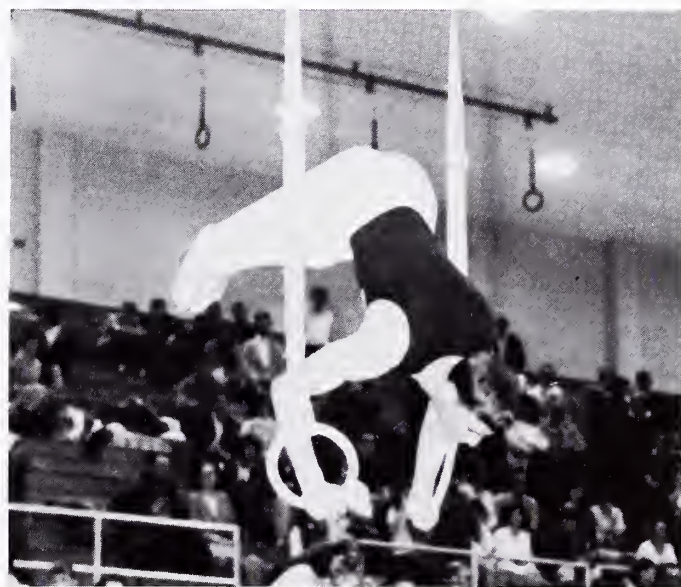

The team competed in four meets and one tournament. Drawing eight freshman from Fulton Junior High School, the team has a bright outlook. Gary Adams, a freshman, went to the semi-finals in the state meet in the tumbling category.

Dick Gummer, senior, executes a full swing on the parallel bars.

Karl Bertalon performs a difficult stunt on the rings during an exhibition meet.

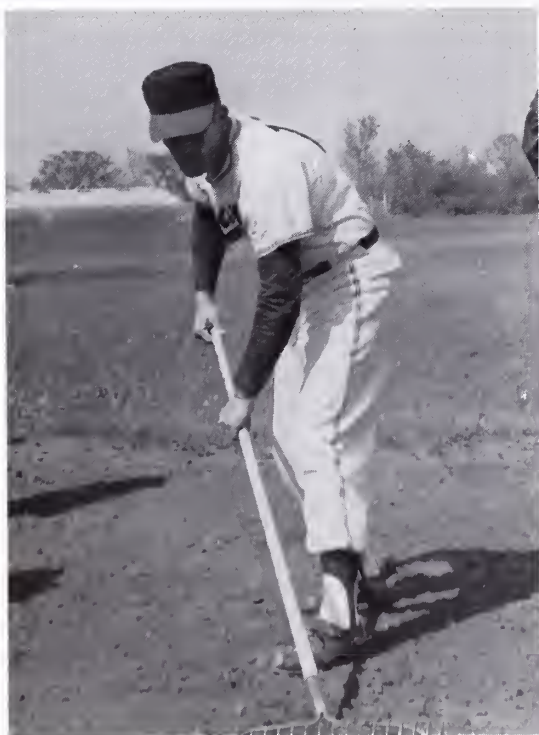

Robert Thompson turned in a good performance each time he competed on the rings.

Tom Fortune executes a medley of stunts on the trampoline.

This year's baseball team, coached by Mr. Kenneth Cox, ended the season with a winning record. With only three returning lettermen, all seniors, coach Cox had a difficult job filling "open" positions.

Seniors Mel "Moe" McKinney and Clint Wright led the team's efforts in the pitching department. Another senior, Jack Jones, did an excellent job holding down second base duties.

The diamondmen were helped in the batting department by "slugger" Jerry Walden, junior. It was his first year as a varsity performer.

Coach Cox can look forward to next year's team with a promising crop of underclassmen returning. Team prospects will also advance from this year's reserve squad.

Underclassmen were the backbone of this year's track squad. With only three upperclassmen participating, the team went through a season of rebuilding.

Senior Clarence Porter produced consistent near-record times in the high and low hurdles throughout the season. Another senior, Joe Keeler, in his first year of varsity performance, aided the team with his efforts in the broad jump and half-mile relay. Senior Scott Atkins produced the season's only school record with a leap of 6' 1½" in the high jump.

Sophomores Dave Meadows, sprinter, and Jeff Rhodes, high jumper, placed consistently in their respective events. Coaches William McClain and Marvin Meranda proved efficient as they took charge of coaching duties. Former Coach Wendell Hine forfeited his coaching duties due to illness.

Golfers, netmen display promising talent

This year's golf team neared the .500 season mark, ending up with an 8-10 tally. Coach George McCool felt his linksmen "were rounding into top form at the time the sectionals began." They avenged two of their season losses in the sectionals by defeating Manual and Beech Grove. Coach McCool commended senior Bill Newlin and sophomore Steve Domogalik on their fine showings.

The tennis squad produced an impressive 9-8 season record. Coach Roger Bush will have five lettermen returning next year, including number one man Greg Hessong. Also returning are Paul West, Lyle Jones, Gary Uffman, and Dave Cooper. The only loss through graduation will be number two man Rick Schwartz.

The Booster Club yells with cheerleaders at basketball games.

The Ben Davis cheerleading squads are essential to basketball and football games. The girls lead the team on to victory with the school's favorite cheers and sideline chants.

Try-outs, which are in the spring, consist of a screening by selected teachers and then popular vote of the students.

Each summer the cheerleaders attend a summer camp to improve traditional cheers and learn new ones. For the last two years Ben Davis has hosted a cheerleading clinic. Along with team members and the faculty, the cheerleaders perform skits at pep rallies to encourage school spirit.

Reserve yell leaders lead cheers at all home, as well as reserve basketball games.

The 1966 Letterman's club was sponsored by Mr. Marion Fine and Mr. Wendell Hine. The position of co-sponsor of the club is a rotating office, with Mr. Marvin Meranda assuming the duties for next year.

The club members shared the duty of distributing programs at football and basketball games. The club's officers for this year were John Weaver, Tom Lothridge, Bill Marshall and Chuck Lineback. Senior Lettermen and coaches were honored by the downtown businessmen at a special luncheon.

The year's activities were highlighted by a picnic given at Merritt Park.

Mr. David L. Adams, principal, declares the class of 1966 ready and qualified to receive their diplomas.

Class of 1966 experiences mixed emotions,

The senior class of 1966 had the honor of being the first class to graduate from the new high school. After four years of work and fun they received their diplomas from the Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Harmon Baldwin, while Mr. David Adams, principal, read their names. For the first time in several years, a senior class was able to graduate from the Ben Davis gymnasium, instead of from another location, as in the past. Parents, faculty, and friends gathered in the gym for the Baccalaureate services on Sunday and on the following Tuesday evening for Commencement Exercises.

Salutatorian, Julia Miller, delivers her speech, "Footprints on the Sands of Time", to the audience and graduates.

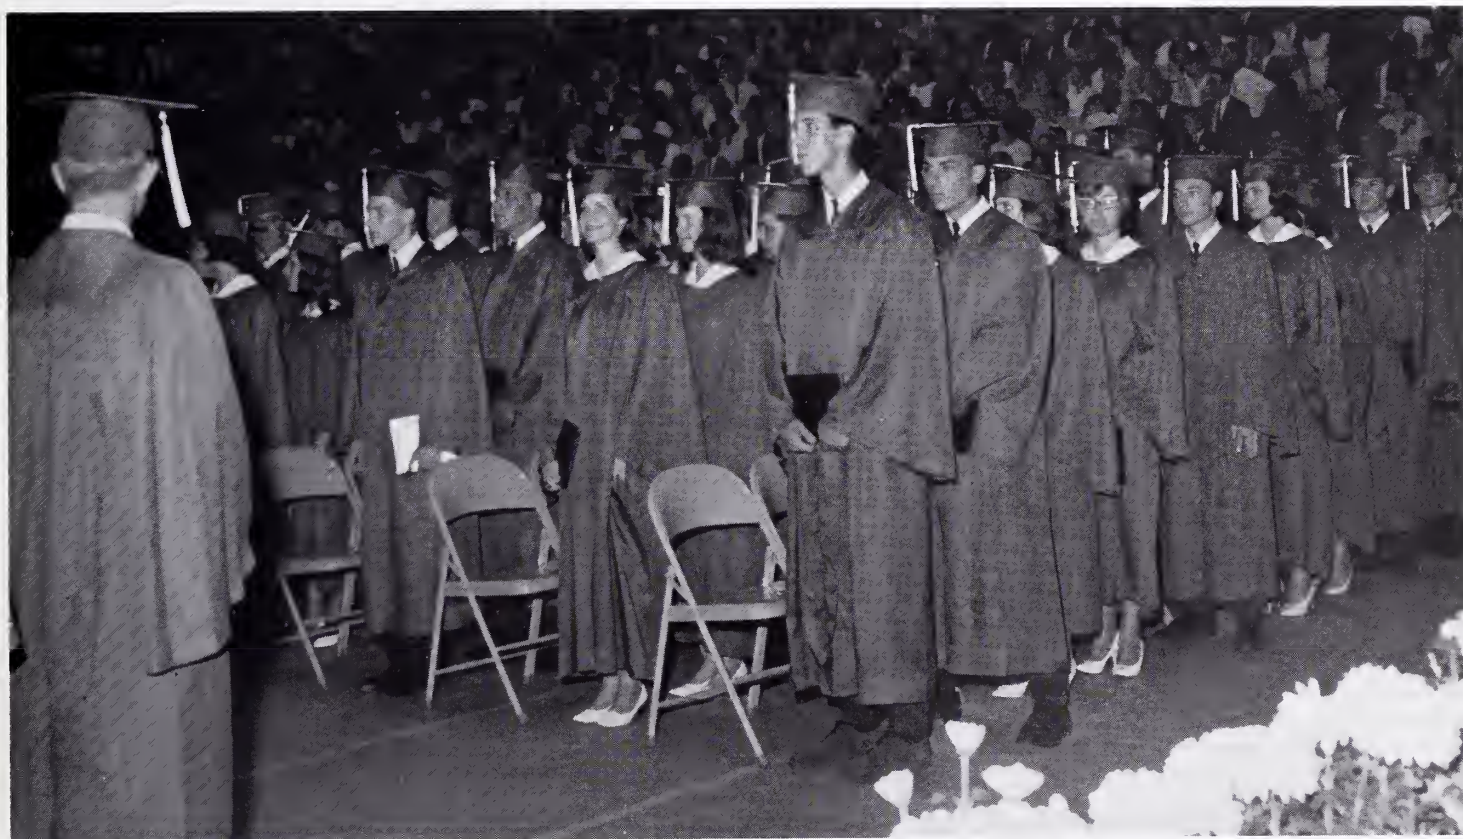

School Board members, Mr. James Baize, Mrs. Evelyn Abbott, Mr. Ben Syphers, and principal, Mr. David Adams, listen at the Baccalaureate.

first class to graduate from new school

The graduates wait patiently as the class marches out of the gym after commencement exercises.

Faculty, student body recognize outstanding

Betty Frizell accepts the Herff-Jones Valedictorian Medal from Mr. Bob Hughes, English teacher.

Mr. Bob Hughes congratulates Julia Miller as she accepts a Purdue Opportunity Grant.

Seniors who received academic and extra-curricular activity awards were paid recognition on the annual Senior Honor Day.

Outstanding seniors—those receiving the highest grades and showing the most interest in certain areas—were given awards. Included were the English, math, science, social studies, foreign language, journalism, business, industrial arts, and home economics awards. Those students excelling in the areas of fine arts also received awards.

Senior scholarship recipients received over $40,000 from various colleges, universities, organizations, and foundations.

American Legion award winners, Gold Key winners, the Valedictorian, Salutatorian, and the best scholar of the graduating class of 1966 were also honored.

'66 graduates on annual senior honor day

Mr. Charles Carpenter, guidance counselor, congratulates Carol Locke after announcing that she won the Charles H. Vance Memorial Scholarship.

Kathy Puyear accepts the Herff-Jones Forensics Award from Mr. Bob Hughes.

Seniors in the Dancing Debs turn to an Indian routine in the Senior Varieties.

Class officers, Jan Nutty and Penny Clarke, served as Master and Mistress of Ceremonies at the Senior Varieties.

Class of '66 displays talent in annual

The action was in the Roscoe Conkle Auditorium at Ben Davis, when seniors presented their annual Senior Varieties, with the theme of "Where the Action Is". The pupils entered the auditorium to the beat of the Action Band. The Action Dancers then entertained the audience. They were followed by singing acts, dancing groups, comedy acts, and a pianist.

Mr. Jack Jester and Mr. Daryl Miller, senior class sponsors, helped the seniors plan and present their annual show. The night of the Senior Varieties, the seniors enjoyed a party in the cafeteria with the band, "The Great Society", playing.

The Action Band which played for Senior Varieties consisted of: Dave Wagley, Ronnie Cunningham, and in the second row, James Rippy, Steve Allee, James Hildebrand.

Tim Mains, John Shaw, Bev Smith, and Steve Richwine presented a satirical "That Was the Year that Was".

Jim Hinders, as "Ahab the Arab", comes to visit his Fatima, played by Ron Meador.

Senior Varieties

Pam Mason appeared in the Senior Varieties doing an interpretive dance with an oriental theme.

Barbara Metal presented an accordin rendition of "Tea for Two".

Teachers retire

Two members of the Ben Davis faculty retired from teaching at the end of the 1965-66 school year. After teaching at Ben Davis for forty years, Mrs. Jessie Kirk, commerce department chairman, plans to travel after her retirement. Before coming to Ben Davis Mrs. Kirk received her B.S. and M.S. degrees from Indiana University.

Mr. Francis Conder, who taught in the science department, also retired. Mr. Conder had taught at Ben Davis for five years. He graduated from DePauw University, and received his M.S. degree from Indiana University. After leaving Ben Davis Mr. Conder plans to travel.

Mrs. Jessie Kirk, commerce department chairman.
